BOUNDARIES OF PLANT

Shipbuilding Company to Use Historic Ground Upon Which to Construct Vessels.

But a small percentage of Alexandria's population was able to enter the Opera House Tuesday night for the purpose of hearing the pleasing announcements of Hon. C. C. Carlin, the president and other officials of the United States Shipbuilding Company as to their intnetions to install a giant plant in Alexandria. Those, however, who were unable to edge their way into the Opera House, by reason of the vast crowd, or who for various reasons could not attend, read with lively interest the Gazette's report of what was done and said on that occasion. The audience was the most representative ever seen in the Opera House. Heretofore the auditorium has at times been filled with people enthused over political issues, but the gathering Tuesday night was composed, in the main, of men who take no special interest in politics outside of casting their votes. All classes were represented, and it was the most orderly assemblage that ever gathered in the city. There were no catcalls or unnecessary noise, all had come together to hear something of vital interest to our old town Politics and creeds had been left in the vestibule; all present were interested in old Alexandria, and they drank in the words of the speakers with avidity.

Those who heard the speeches and those who read the Gazette of yesterday which contained them have had the shipbuilding plant upon their minds ever since, and it has been the principal theme of conversation. It will be no nine-days' wonde either, but will continue to animate our people, who have been assured that within the next three months they will see the beginning of wha will place Alexandria in a position none ever dreamed of.

The Gazette yesterday did not describe the boundaries of the proposed colossal plant. It will take in five squares of the river front, places upon which little has been done in the past three-score years. Starting with the present shipyard propert at the foot of Gibbon street, the plant will extend to and take in mos of Jones's Point, leaving only th enclosure upon which the lighthouse i situated and which belongs to the government. This means Gibbon, Franklin, Jefferson, Greene, Churc and South streets, the latter being the northern shore of Huntin Creek. It is also hinted that part o the creek will be reclaimed and tha eventually the steamship plant o other enterprises will form an L shaped manufacturing tract border ing on the Potomac river and Hunt ing Creek and for some distanc west.

In the headline above are the word "historic ground." The Manassa Gap Railroad Company assured Alexandria in the early fifties that i would place a coal depot upon Jones' Point and ground it would reclair in Baptizing Cove. The cove wa reclaimed six years ago by the gov ernment and this with the point wi form part of the location for th plant of the shipbuilding company

In the early part of the year 188 what was known as the Arrow Steam ship Company obtained an optio upon the shipyard property and an nounced to the world that an iron steamship, to be known as the "Pocahontas," would be constructed at tha place. The vessel was to be 54 feet long. Logs were buried in th ground in the shipyard enclosure and a crib formed upon which to buil the steamer. The "Pocahontas," however, proved to be a "Flying Dutchman," as the company went to pieces. The crib is still there, an doubtless the new shipbuilding company will use it in due time.

All have waited long and patiently for capitalists to appreciate the advantages offered by Alexandria. While Norfolk, Newport News and other Virginia cities have been forging ahead we have bided our time. All rejoice that the commercial importance of Alexandria is now assured and within the next few months operations on our river front will enthuse us as nothing has heretofore in our history.

MAYOR IS SUSTAINED

Executive Calls Aldermen's Attention to the Fact That Certain Measures Require a Majority Vote.

Five members of the Board of Aldermen were present last night. The business which came up was transacted without discussion, and the votes on each measure unanimous.

A communication was received from Mayor Fisher returning without his signature a report of the Finance and Light Committees recommending that the salary of the Clerk of Gas be fixed at $1,500 per annum instead of $1,200, as at present. The Aldermen on November 27 voted upon the report of the committee. The vote stood ayes 44, noes 1. The Mayor quoted the city charter which says it requires a majority of the whole number of Aldermen elected to pass such a measure.

Upon motion of Mr. Ballenger the Mayor's objections were sustained by a unanimous vote.

The Mayor also returned a report of the Finance Committee appropriating $300 for the school nurse which had been adopted at the November meeting by both boards of Council. He stated that in doing so he was acting at the request of the committee.

The Aldermen adopted a resolution providing that when Council adjourned it be to meet again on the second Tuesday in January, 1918.

The Aldermen concurred in the action of the Common Council on all papers sent in except the resolutions appropriating $6,000 to aid in defraying the expenses of operating the ferry steamer "Atlantic," which were laid over under the rules.

The Common Council.

The ordinance recently passed by the board of aldermen, providing for the payment of $6,020 in monthly instalments of $500 each to the Washington Steel and Ordnance Company, to assist in defraying operating expenses of the ferry steamer Atlantic between this city and Giesboro Point, was reintroduced in the common council last night and passed by a vote of nine to one.

Among the other matters of interest which came before the council was the resolution increasing the salary of the clerk of gas from $1,200 to $1,500 a year, which was returned by Mayor Fisher without his approval because it failed to receive the requisite number of votes in the aldermanic chamber. Another which also came back from the mayor was that appropriating $300 for the school nurse. Both measures were referred to the finance committee for further consideration.

The council empowered the fire committee to advertise for hose for use of the fire department at a cost not to exceed $2,000, and an ordnance providing for an increase of the salary of the fire chief from $200 to 300 per year, payable at $25 a month was also placed in the hands of the finance committee. The sum of $25 was appropriated for the purchase of a stove for the Columbia fire company's house, and $250 for the visiting nurse for schools to be spent under direction of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. According to the reports of the society the nurse made 973 visits up to April 30, 1917.

The resolution to employ Henry Posey for the month of December at $45 to paint fire hydrants and do other work, was referred to a committee.

President Smith informed the council that he had received the resignation of George H. Evans, member from the First ward, now serving in the army. The resignation of Robert E. Gronau as chief of the fire department was received and accepted with regret, and a communication from Columbia fire company was also read favoring the appointment of Kenneth W. Ogden as the new chief of the department.

The sum of $169 was appropriated for work and lumber for use at the city almshouse, and a petition asking that the policemen be paid $10 more per month each was sent to the committee on finance and police.

The council concurred in a similar action taken by the board of aldermen and adjourned until the second Tuesday in the new year, January 8, 1918.

In accordance with established custom, members of Alexandria Washington Masonic Lodge will tomorrow place a memorial wreath on Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon in commemoration of the 118th anniversary of Washington's death. A wreath will also be placed on the tomb by Fredericksburg Lodge of Masons.

Quite a large number of Alexandrians have taken the opportunity while in the city of Washington during the past three days to pay a visit to the Corcoran Art Gallery for the purpose of seeing the portrait of President Wilson, painted by Mr John Singer Sargent for the National Art Gallery at Dublin Ireland which was placed on exhibition on Monday. The portrait was painted at the White House during the past fall It is stated that the late Sir Hugh Lane of England paid the sum of $50,000 for the picture. He was one of the Lusitania victims.

The usual prayer services at Anne Lee Memorial will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The number of persons who have paid capitation taxes to City Treasurer Robinson thus far is 1560, which is an increase of about 400 over the number paid last year.

Coal dealers state that there is no improvement in the local situation so far as getting supplies are concerned. A representative of the Gazette was informed this morning that a man living in the northern part of the city was compelled to burn some of the inside blinds to his house last night in order to make his home sufficiently comfortable for his children. The statement was made by a gentleman whose word cannot be questioned and illustrates the seriousness of what has been a bad situation in the city for several days. A salesman for one of the coal dealers this morning said that in his opinion all the anthracite coal in the city would be distributed by tonight or tomorrow. At this rate wood of almost any kind will be at a premium in the near future, unless the coal blockade is lifted.

There were no cases for trial in the Police Court this morning.

Word has been received of the death of Rev. J. Thompson Cole, at Ogontz, Pa., His death occurred on Tuesday night. The interment will be made in Culpeper, Va.

Those desiring to join the new military organization in this city of which Dr. T. B. Cochran is captain, will have to do so by tomorrow as that is the last day upon which men can be taken into the company. Those in this vicinity subject to be called by draft will do well to act quickly if they wish to get in with the home boys, otherwise they will be very likely to go among strangers later on.

SAVE AND SERVE.

Buy War Stamps and Thus Help Yourself and Your Country at Same Time.

"Save and serve." These three words tell why every man, woman and child, both white and colored should invest in Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps. The individual saves by purchasing stamps and he also serves at the same time because he lends his money to Uncle Sam The individual's saving capacity is increased because Uncle Sam pays 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly, for every dollar lent him, which means every dollar invested in Thrift Stamps.

Because America is at war is the main reason why everyone should buy stamps. Every penny which every person can save and lend is needed to feed, clothe, arm and equip soldiers and sailors of America to win this righteous war in defense of American honor and the cause of democracy throughout the world.

If Americans are to win this war they must do it as a united people The savings of all are necessary if the victorious ending of the world conflict is to be hastened. War savers are life savers: A country worth fighting for is a country worth saving for: To save money is to save life.

Buy War Savings Stamps at post offices, banks, trust companies, or other authorized agencies, and strike a blow for America.

Mrs. Walthall was the widow of Charles P. Walthall, and had been a resident of the South Side for a number of years.

CHANCELLOR'S FOOD SEIZED.

Bavarians, Fearing he Would Lack in Berlin, Sent Edibles.

Amsterdam, Dec. 13.—According to the Munich Post, a number of friends and admirers of Count Geo. F. Hertling, the imperial German chancellor, have been sending him foodstuffs since he left Bavaria for Berlin to take up the chancellorship, fearing he might find difficulty in getting food in the German capital.

As the sending of foodstuffs from Bavaria to Prussia is against the regulations, the packages were seized and the senders arrested. Count Hertling has telegraphed the Bavarian authorities, requesting the release of these persons, and asks that the packages be forwarded to him, adding, "They will be gratefully accepted."

COLD FREES PRISONERS.

Failure of Gas Supply Causes Cumberland Jail to be Cleared.

Cumberland, Md., Dec. 13.—Little improvement in the extreme cold in this section occurred yesterday. At Thomas, W. Va., the thermometer stood at 10 below and at Altamont, Garrett county, two below. The drop in Garrett at places was as low as 14 degrees. Many roads in Garrett are reported to be blocked by snowdrifts. The rural delivery has been much interferred with. Trains are still running late on all lines, Baltimore and Ohio trains being as much as six hours behind.

The situation became so acute at the police station as the result of the failure of natural gas with which the building had been heated, that Chief of Police Everman found it necessary to free all prisoners. In the meantime gas burners are being removed and coal grates put in the furnace.

CHARITY ARRIVES TOO LATE.

Mother of Five Dies Amid Squalor After Aiding Husband Who Deserts Her.

Winchester, Va., Dec. 13.—Stricken with pneumonia, while struggling to provide for her five children, the youngest of whom is less than a year old, Mrs. Mary Gatlett died Tuesday amid squalor and destitution, the city's charity reaching her too late.

Her husband, Henry Gatlett, was sent to the convict road force recently for wife beating, but escaped, and is said to be living under an assumed name near Berkeley Springs, W. Va. When he escaped, he made his way back home and was secreted from officers by his wife, who had just recovered from his lashes. She gave him food and clothing and, in return for her loyalty, he again deserted her.

WHERE THEY CAME FROM.

Red Cross Christmas Seals Originated in Norway—Movement Started in This Country by a Woman.

It may not be generally known that the Red Cross Seal originated in Norway and was brought to the attention of an American woman nine years ago from an article by Jacob Riis, in which he described how the Norwegians used the stamps in their fight against tuberculosis.

She launched the movement in this country at Christmas, and that year thousands of packages went out bearing the gay little seal. The second year she appealed to the Red Cross to take over the venture on a vast scale and that year, 1908, $135,000 worth of seals were sold. The Christmmas seal then became a national institution and each year since the sales have increased by leaps and bounds. The total sales for the nine years are $4,300,000.

This year the Red Cross and the Society for the prevention of tuberculosis hope to raise the ercord-breaking fund of $3,000,000. Buy these cheerful little seals and put them on all your letters and packages. They are on sale at Alexandria stores.

An oyster supper under the auspices of the Parents Teacher's Association will be given Thursday, December 13, 1917, from 5 to 9 o'clock in Lee Camp Hall. Tickets 35c. 295-8t.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

Big Effort to be Made to Secure Three Thousand Members in Alexandria This Month.

Henry P. Davison; chairman of the Red Cross War Council, has sent out the suggestion that on Sunday, Dec. 16, there shall be arranged union meetings in churches or auditoriums in the interests of the Red Cross Christmas membership drive, beginning December 17, and ending Christmas Eve.

Ministers of all denominations are asked to preach Red Cross sermons on Sunday morning, December 16, and to hold Sunday school and Young People's services in the afternoon of that day. In addition to these services, Mr. Davison suggests that evening meetings be held in churches or auditoriums where people of all faiths may unite in testifying to their zeal for the Red Cross and in helping in its campaign for 10,000,000 new members.

Concerning the work another writer says: In this great crisis in the history of the progress of the human race and when the ideals of democracy are being put to the crucial test it is the duty of every man and every woman regardless of his or her station in life to respond generously and enthusiastically to every call that is made for service, in order that civilization may be preserved and the menace of autocracy may be forever removed.

Many of our people are denied the opportunity of bearing arms, but no one is denied the opportunity of serving his country and upholding its ideals. He contributes in every possible way to the success of those movements which support and sustain our soldiers and sailors and which relieve the distress and destitution of the dependents of those who have gone to the front to defend with their very lives the principles upon which our country is founded.

The Red Cross will make a special effort to enroll before Christmas ten million additional members. Let us make sure that the effort will be crowned with success. It is believed that the wage-earning men and women of our country will be found among the first to respond to the magnificent work which the Red Cross is doing and which it must continue to do.

ENLIST WITH YOUR FRIENDS.

Or be Drafted. Which Will You Choose? You Have One More Chance.

Enlist with your friends or be drafted, which will you choose? Under the regulations, all men within the draft age, with no dependent relatives, will be called first. This district must call nearly all of the members of this class to get its quota as there are so few in this class to be called.

You have one more chance of enlisting with men from your home town. The third Virginia regiment is being reorganized. Alexandria wants a company in that regiment and we must have one hundred men who can pass the physical examination before we can organize.

Thousands of men are enlisting in the National guard to be with their friends. Why not you?

In all probablity we will live in our own homes, all winter, while all are training and being equipped for service.

Men, you are gambling against heavy odds by taking the chances of not being drafted. You single men who are in the last group, according to the first draft will be pushed forward and necessarily will have to go with the first quota.

It is imperative that you come tonight as we must positively know if we can get the required one hundred men so that we may receive Federal recognition by tomorrow night.

Men, you have got to go so why not with your friends rather than strangers.

Come to the armory on south Royal street tonight(Thursday) between the hours of 7:30 and nine o'clock and have Captain Cochran explain it to you. If you can't come, see Capt. Cochran at his office 722 King street.

Do not miss this opportunity as it is your last before being drafted. 297-1t.

Notice.

Washington Memorial Lodge of Perfection No. 7 will hold its regular meeting, Friday, December 14, 1917, at 7:30. All members and visitors are invited to be present. 294-5t

RETURN OF CHRISTMAS.

During the summer a prominent European prelate said he would not be surprised to hear Peace and Christmas bells ringing out "Joy to the World," and the world joining in the celestial anthem, "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

This great desideratum is possible, but at present improbable. Not any more so, however, than it was on the eve of the battle of Waterloo, when every nation in Europe was sharing the anxiety of the Duke of Wellington who attended a ball at Brussels the previous night in order to allay fear, although he was doubtless as uncertain as anyone else concerning the outcome of the impending battle. Napoleon twenty-four hours later was making his way to Paris, his army scattered, including the Old Guard around which clustered so much sentiment.

Well, the reader will say, What has that ancient history to do with present-day events? It is possible that ere long newspaper writers will draw a parallel between the fate of the Corsican and the Kaiser William. The latter is massing every man possible on the western front for the purpose of precipitating the greatest drive of his career. He has made preliminary plunges, and his tide may now be about to turn. His armies are not likely to go to pieces as rapidly as did those of Napoleon, but the fate of the Teuton may be that of the "Little Corporal," who terrified Europe so long.

But coming back to the approaching Christmas. This greatest of all holiday seasons will this year overtake many who are unprepared for the joys geenrally in evidence on that occasion. The prevailing high prices of everything which enters into the cheer of Christmas have placed such delicacies beyond the reach of the greatest number, while coal, that greatest-of-all desideratums at Christmas, is unobtainable in many places at any price. We refer to our old English ancestors gathering at Christmas in front of the yule log. This custom will doubtless be repeated by some of the present generation who heretofore have sipped wine, cracked nuts and engaged in exhilarating conversation in front of glowing grates.

But let us all be thankful that we are as well off as we are. Should we turn our eyes toward the other side of the world and look upon the sufferings of thousands who are homeless and who have been brought to literal starvation through no fault of their own, we will strengthen the feeble knees and utter thankfulness that we live in a country which is not dominated by human monsters.

THE WANDERING JEW.

The Baltimore American yesterday contained a suggestive picture. It represented "a Hebrew of the Hebrews," in the words of Paul, and was suggestive of the mythical Abasureus of Eugene Sue. The Semitic has a staff in his hand, and he stands viewing the city of his forefathers, which has been wrested from the hands of the Turks, with the flag of Great Britain flying over places not only sacred to the Jew but to the Christian, also.

People who are not over-interested in the study of the Bible may say, the capture of Jerusalem, celebrated for nothing save its antiquity, is an unimportant incident in this great war which must settle issues of more interest to the world than Jerusalem or the Hebrew race have been since the Titus demolished the capital of the Hebrews and scattered the race over the globe.

So far as the actual outcome of the war is concerned, the taking of Jerusalem may not play an important part in present events or in those of the immediate future, but who can tell in the final settlement of this universal strife what part the Jewish race will play?

We knew there is much sentiment, and always will be, in what the author of the Christian religion termed "The City of the Great King," when he quoted these words from ancient scripture, and we never could see how any thinking person could study the writings of the Old and New Testaments without becoming convinced that there is a great and glorious future not only for Jerusalem but for the Children of Israel wherever they may be scattered at present.

We notice that rabbis in various American cities are already delivering addresses upon the capture of Jerusalem and the fact that the city is in the hands of a great power which is friendly to the Jews and which purposes to allow the descendants of Abraham to re-establish the Kingdom of Israel, should be interesting to Jew and Christian.

The international Sunday school lesson for next week is a continuation of the story of the return to the Jews from the Babylonish captivity under the protection of Artaxerxes, and the rebuilding of Jerusalem. Great Britain has and is playing a greater part in the world's history than that of Artaxerxes, and Jerusalem may be nearing the time, long-foretold, when she will awake and put on her beautiful garments.

Many Christian ministers in different cities will preach next Sunday upon the restoration of Jerusalem. Let others also take up the subject, as it seems appropriate at a time when such rapid transitions are taking place in this world.

It was recently suggested that the recovery of Jerusalem from Moslem hands after many centuries is one of those imposingly dramatic climaxes which history is fond of staging, and which must appeal strongly even to the most sluggish imagination. The Christian mind may be justified in seeing in it a sign of victory. The control of the Holy City and of the whole region connected with Biblical history has been one of the dreams of the man who has claimed a special commission from the Almighty. To those who believe in a guiding and directing Providence may not the expulsion of the Kaiser's ally from the birthplace of Christendom seem an omen of final triumph, a direct repudiation of the German ruler's claim to be under heavenly patronage, an indication of the slow working out of a program not made in Germany?

"GERMAN WAR PRACTICES."

A pamphlet, bearing the headline of this article, was sent out by the committee of information of the United States several days ago. It has been referred to by the Gazette, but as the publication contains about one hundred pages, we could not give even a proper synopsis. It should be read in its entirety by all people of the country. While the book abounds in frightful announcements from the Kaiser and his henchmen, most of which were uttered before the Germans precipitated this terrible war, some extracts are more suggestive than others. The following will be read with interest, especially the words of Bismarck, worshipped by Teutons up to the time when the present Emperor assumed control of Germany when many diverted themselves by kicking the dead lion. One of the present Kaiser's first acts was to "dismiss the pilot," as London Punch pictured it at the time. Most of the world sympathized with the chancellor then, supposing he was the victim of an imperial youth afflicted with megalomania, who thirsted for all the honor of the realm. In the light of present-day developments, however, but few people in the civilized world will regret his fate. He, too, was one of the Borgias, and his sudden eclipse is not regretted.

According to Moritz Busch, Bismarck's biographer, Bismarck, exasperated by the French resistance, which was still continuing in January, 1871, said:

"If in the territory which we occupy, we can not supply everything for our troops, from time to time we shall send a flying column into the localities which are recalcitrant. We shall shoot, hang, and burn. After that has happened a few times, the inhabitants will finally come to their senses."

COUNTRY SNOW CLAD.

Virginia Has Heaviest December Fall in Many Years.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 13.—Following a cold wave, which reached a minimum temperature of 12 Tuesday, snow began falling at 10 o'clock Tuesday night and by 10 o'clock yesterday morning had reached a depth of 9.3 inches, the second largest December snow in Richmond's history. The heaviest December snow, in 1908, measured 17.2.

Danville reported 10 inches of snow and Roanoke 8 inches.

Newport News, Va., Dec. 13.—The heaviest snow in 19 years fell here Tuesday night, reaching a depth of 10 inches. Not since the blizzard of 1898 has there been such a snow storm here. The severe cold weather and high winds have caused a virtual tie-up of shipping in this port.

Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 13.—The unseasonable cold weather of the past two days culminated Tuesday night in sleet which put a thin coat of ice over the city.

Macon, Ga., Dec. 13.—Sleet fell here for several hours Tuesday night producing an ice coating on the streets that made walking difficult yesterday. Winter weather has not checked the training work at Camp Wheeler. The men are not suffering so much from cold. They are all supplied with overcoats and heavy woolen clothing. An extra supply of wood is on hand and fire are kept burning in the tents while the men are not on drill field. Orders for every man to wear an overcoat are being strictly enforced.

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 13.—An inch layer of ice and snow covered Columbia yesterday morning.

Petersburg, Va., Dec. 13.—With 17 inches of snow on the ground, Camp Lee soldiers yesterday drilled as usual. All traffic was badly hampered. Trains in some instances were delayed for several hours.

BRITISH IN JERUSALEM.

Protecting Sacred Buildings While Part of Army Continues Advance.

London, Dec. 13.—Gen. Allenby the British commander in Palestine entered Jerusalem yesterday on foot Premier Lloyd George announced in the house of commons yesterday. The victorious general was accompanied by American and other military attaches and was well received by the population, the premier added.

In his proclamation to the people of the Holy City Gen. Allenby gave assurances that all sacred buildings and holy places would be protected. Before the entrance of the British commander guards were placed around the holy places, the Mosque of Omar being given into Mohammedan control, the premier announced. Gen Allenby received and acknowledged the king's congratulations after his entrance into the city Tuesday.

While the commander was formally taking over Jerusalem part of his army continued its advance northwest of the city, in order to protect the Jaffa-Jerusalem line. The latest dispatches report that contingents of Ghurkas carried positions as far as the mouth of the Midieh. Fifty Turks were killed and ten taken prisoners. British aeroplanes bombed troops and transports in the vicinity of Bireh, the statement adds.

The only report received from Constantinople in reference to the Jerusalem operations dated Monday, admits the retreat of the Turkish forces from the south and west of the Holy City to the eastern section as a result of British pressure on the outskirts.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Austrian battleship Wien was torpedoed and sunk Sunday night, according to a Vienna official statement received in Amsterdam. Most of the crew was saved.

Panama declared war on Austria Monday. The government, in cooperation with the Canal Zone authorities, is interning Austrians. The zone has now been cleared of Germans and Austrians, in accordance with President Wilson's recent order.

After a quarrel with his wife over the love affairs of their daughter, James Borecca, of Millville, N. J., Tuesday night shot and killed his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Deluca and the five-year-old daughter of the Delucas. Sylvia Borecca, the nineteen-year-old daughter, whose romance led to the shooting, escaped by leaping through an upstairs window. She was badly cut by glass. Borecca escaped. The shooting occurred at the home of Deluca, where Mrs. Borecca and her daughter boarded.

German agents, in the opinion of Pittsburgh, Pa., authorities stabbed to death Tuesday Mrs. Emma Beyers, wife of Hugo Beyers, a German electrical engineer and draftsman, and then wrecked by an explosion the Beyers' home, in Edgewood, a suburb. Beyers and his wife were in Germany at the outbreak of the war, and, it is said, Beyers was forced into military service and served under compulsion as a member of a submarine crew. Later they obtained passports and came to this country. According to neighbors Mrs. Beyers, who was a native-born American, was at all times extremely vehement in her denunciation of Germany and of the treatment accorded her husband in that country.

America's formal proclamation of war against Austria was made public last night. It calls upon all citizens to support the government in a vigorous prosecution of the war, and defines the status of subjects of Austria-Hungary in this country. Attorney General Gregory issued simultaneously a statement explaining that the only restrictions placed on Austro-Hungarians is that they shall not enter or leave this country without permission. They will have entire freedom of movement within the areas now barred to German subjects, only dangerous or disloyal ones being subject to arrest.

Feverish activity by the greatest aerial armada ever collected on the West front, continuous violent shelling by heavy re-enforced German batteries all along the front and a steady pour of trains and lorries packed with reserves continued yesterday to herald Hindenburg's supreme smash in the West. Opposite the northern side of Gen. Byng's salient west of Cambrai the greatest accumulation of German troops has been observed. But at the same time German activity has been above normal at Verdun and to the northwest of Cambrai.

Following a rousing loyalty demonstration in the gymnasium at Madison, Wis., last night, University of Wisconsin students, led by A. James Thompson, New York alumnus, paraded to the lower campus and burned Senator Robert M. La Follette in effigy. While flames spread up the dummy hoisted on a goal post the students did an Indian war dance. The loyalty demonstration was an answer to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carl Vrooman's attack on the student body in Madison a month ago, an attack which resulted in President Charles R. Van Hise sending a letter of protest to President Wilson.

A tremendous demonstration to celebrate the American declaration of war against Austria was held in Rome Tuesday. It is described as the most impressive manifestation since Italy entered the war. Rome declared a holiday. The capital was decorated with flags of the allies, with the Stars and Stripes predominating with the red, white and green of Savoy.

Breaking the long-distance flying records for women, Katherine Stinson, the Texas girl aviator, yesterday made a nonstop flight from San Diego to San Francisco, a corrected distance of 550 miles, in eight hours and fifty-five minutes. Her average speed was a fraction over a mile a minute. Miss Stinson shattered the previous women's mark of 512 miles made by Ruth Law in her flight run from Chicago to Hornell, N. Y., last year.

ASQUITH BACKS WILSON.

Former Premier Says Message Expresses Intentions of the Allies.

London, Dec. 13.—Former Premier Asquith, speaking at Birmingham yesterday, declared that if he had to live over the time again he still would take the same position he had arrived at with regard to Great Britain entering the war. He added that he unhesitatingly believed it had been worth while, provided the war ended in a peace which secured the original purposes for entering upon it, and contained the elements of permanency.

Mr. Asquith said he thought little more would be heard from the enemy on the question of freedom of the seas.

He strongly endorsed President Wilson's message as clearly expressing the intentions and desires of the Allies.

The former premier, continuing said he considered the adverse criticism of the Marquis of Lansdowne growing out of the recent letter of the Marquis regarding the Allies war aims, as due to reading into the letter unintended meanings. Lansdowne's main argument, he said, was that while vigorously pursuing the war the Allies should satisfy the world that their aims were unselfish and were devoted to securing a peace guaranteed by a league of nations.

TAKE SUSPECT IN MURDER.

Former Employee of Slain Man Jailed and Bloody Clothes Found.

Easton, Md., Dec. 13.—The investigation into the murder last week of James Stanley, who lived on a farm near Trappe, has resulted in the arrest of Joseph Winson, colored, who lives with Charles R. Wooters, of Easton, by Sheriff Stitchberry and Deputy Sheriff Stevens. Winson once lived with Stanley, but early in the fall they had a misunderstanding about money matters, and Winson came to Easton to work. Since the murder several persons living in the neighborhood of Stanley's home have said they noticed a strange team on the road several times within the past two or three weeks, coming out of the woods near the house.

This led the officers to the belief that Winson was connected with the murder, and today they went to Wooters' residence, arrested Winson and lodged him in jail. Then they went back and searched Wooters' garage, where Winson worked, and found a raincoat, shirt and leggins filled with blood stains.

The murder was a brutal one, as Stanley was found on the floor of his house behind a table with his left side riddled with shot. The shot had been fired through the window while Stanley was sitting at the table. No motive for the murder has developed.

WOULD CALL YOUTHS.

Senator Reed Urges Training of Those Between 18 and 21.

Warning that the United States must prepare to assume further burdens to win the war was given yesterday in the Senate by Senator Reed, in vigorously opposing as a trust scheme in the Webb export combination bill, which President Wilson, in his recent address, urged Congress to enact.

Declaring that Congress should concentrate upon a great war problems and defer considering of such legislation as the export trade measure, the Missouri Senator said that with Russia out of the war, and Roumania also "gone," the enemy numerically is now superior in man power.

Although an opponent of army conscription, Senator Reed predicted that new draft levies probably would be necessary and urged military training for youths between 18 and 21 for coast defense work. Invasion of America, he asserted, was not beyond the realms of impossibilities should other Allied powers fall besides Russia, Roumania and Serbia.

The unrest in Spain is growing. The German influences are far reaching. By skillful manipulation of the Spanish press and by extensive purchase of newspapers through agents, Germany has succeeded in conducting a propaganda against the allies which has alienated many of their former friends. Independent Spanish newspapers openly accuse their government of working in the interest of Germany.
